THE SMALL PENGUIN CONSTELLATION

When town lights were switched off the moon and stars were shining on the sky and some stars were twinkling from the Small Penguin Constellation. Nothing was ordinary with creation of that Constellation. It was once upon a time when the sky Small Penguin was very naughty. Other stars were afraid of him so they were hiding under clouds when he was noisily turning around trash containers and was breaking glasses. Finally the Moon decided to punish him for his bad manners and sent him to the Earth where he should help people. As soon as he landed on the Earth he met a couple of man and wife desperately in need for a child. The Small Penguin couldn't help them so he left them in misery. A little further down his path he met a girl, who was crying because she got no parents. He invited her on his skateboard and took her to the sad couple in need for a child. A girl stopped crying when a man and a woman happily embraced her. Far away on the sky the Moon was watching with satisfaction over this kind Small Penguin's deed and invited him back to the sky. Look at the clear night sky now and you would see the Small Penguin skating around and smiling to the stars.

THE STAR GUARDIAN

Once upon a time stars on the sky got rebellious and didn't obey orders of the Space King. Many times some little star naughtily left her place on the sky. The Space King summoned up his servants and asked them for advice how to make order on the sky. They decided that the star guardian should be employed. As no one among them didn't want such a job they had to announce their demand all around the space. After a long time of waiting for someone who would like to be a guardian Hercules with a sword appeared at the Space King's door. When the Space King saw a huge man with a sword he asked him to become the star guardian. Hercules humbly kneeled down on the floor beneath the King and thanked him for his offer. From that time his sword helped him that each star was always on her place and followed her tasks. The King was very grateful to Hercules and thanked him with his most beautiful stars which he arranged them into a pattern of huge Hercules Sword. Now we can see his sword.
