Mount Nata
by Jordan Gruenewald

Mount Nata was a mountain taller than Mount Everest. It even reached space! If you go to space you will be able to see a little bit of it. One day some astronauts and I went to space. We flew and we took pictures of the Earth. Then we saw something weird, a a mountain. It was a very tall mountain. I named it Nata because it was tall like my brother Nate.

Headless Surfing Bridan
by Jordan Gruenewald

The Headless Surfing Bridan was a headless surfing man. Even though he was headless he was a champion. He was a Dare Devil but in a more complicated way. He surfed in the air!!

The unknown leopard
By Alex Pholvichitr

Once upon a time, there was a leopard that was a different color than other leopards, and he ate different food than other leopards. He liked the winter. He was white and black. One day he realized he might be a different leopard. He stayed at his house and figured out he was a snow leopard. So he learned how to swim and he swam from Africa to Antarctica. He was very happy the rest of his life.
